

Name	Birth/Death	Age	Range/Site
Yale, Julia N.	d. 1 Jun 1897	45 yrs.	R58/87
Yale. On Tuesday, June 1, 1897, Mrs. Julia M. Yale, daughter of Jesse Clarke of Lynchburg, Va., aged 45 years. "O! Let me rest." Funeral private, Congressional Cemetery.

Name	Birth/Death	Age	Range/Site
------	-------------	-----	------------

Yarnold, Susanna

d. 19 Nov 1913

64 yrs.

R96/296

Yarnold. On Wednesday, November 19, 1913 at 8 p.m., Susanna Bray Yarnold, beloved wife of Edwin Yarnold. Born in Edinburgh, Scotland. Funeral from her late residence, 3401 14th street, Friday, November 21, at 2:30 p.m. Interment private.

The Evening Star, November 20, 1913, p. 24

Death of Mrs. Yarnold

Funeral Services at Her Late Residence Tomorrow Afternoon

Mrs. Susanna Bray Yarnold, wife of Dr. Edwin Yarnold, died at her home, 3401 14th street, yesterday, at the age of sixty-four years. She was the daughter of Rev. John Bray, formerly minister in a Baptist Church here. She came to this country at an early age from Edinburgh, Scotland.

Funeral services will be held at her late residence tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment, which will be private, will be in Congressional Cemetery. Besides her husband, two nephews and three nieces survive her.

Name	Birth/Death	Age	Range/Site
------	-------------	-----	------------

Yaste, William J.

d. 4 Dec 1939

R11/15

Yaste, William J. On Monday, December 4, 1939 at his residence, 214 E st. n.e., William J. Yaste beloved husband of Cordelia Yaste (nee Bryan). Remains resting at the Lee funeral home, 4th st. and Mass. ave. n.e., where services will be held on Wednesday, December 6 at 1 p.m. Relatives and friends invited. Interment Congressional Cemetery.

Yaste, William J. Members of Webster Lodge, No. 7, Knights of Pythias, will meet at Lee's funeral home, 4th st. and Mass. ave. n.e., at 12:45 p.m., Wednesday, December 6, 1939, to pay respects to our late brother, William J. Yaste.

Marshall E. Briscoe, Chancellor Commander
R.O. Lovering, Keeper of Records and Seal

Name	Birth/Death	Age	Range/Site
Yates, Catherine E.	d. 26 Jul 1875	25 yrs.	R65/51
Yates. On the 26th of July, at 5 o'clock a.m., Kate E., second daughter of the late Frederick and Mary E. Yates, of St. Mary's county, Md., in the 26th year of her age. Relatives and friends of the family are respectfully requested to attend her funeral from Grace Church, corner 9th and D streets southwest, Wednesday at 3 o'clock p.m. (St. Mary's Beacon please copy).
Yates, Estelle E.	d. 7 Feb 1905	25 yrs.	R113/210
The Evening Star, February 7, 1905 Murder and Suicide Probable Solution of Mystery Developed This Morning Man and Woman Dead The Former a Bartender and Unmarried Deceased Woman's Rooms the Scene of Tragedy-- She Had Separated From Her Husband
Theodore Fisher, thirty-five years old, and Mrs. Estella E. Yates, ten years younger, were found dead in the house of the woman, 1018 12th street southeast, this morning. The man's death was due to a bullet wound of the brain, and Mrs. Yates had a similar wound almost directly over the heart. The double tragedy was enacted some time since Friday night at 8 o'clock, as Fisher left Reagan's saloon at 10th and B streets, where he was employed as bartender, about that time. The bodies were found by Miss Blanche Jackson, a sister of the dead woman. She had not heard from Estelin since last week and went to her house this morning, with her mother, to see her.
Fisher was unmarried and lived at the home of his sister, No. 605 6th street southwest. It is said that he spent most of his time at the home of the Yates woman, who has been separated from her husband more than two years. Her husband is Robert Yates, who conducts a blacksmith shop in Georgetown. A small .22-caliber revolver was found on the floor near the two bodies with three empty shells in the chambers. From the examination made of the bodies at the house, the coroner was able to find only the two wounds stated, but may possibly find a third when the bodies have been stripped at the morgue.
Indications of Struggle
The condition of the furniture in the room indicated that there had possibly been a struggle. A broken glass stand on the sideboard had been smashed. It is thought, by one of the bullets. On the floor there was also a broken lamp, while a lamp, in which there was oil, was on the table. Three goblets on the table, in two of which there was a small quantity of beer, showed that more than one person had probably indulged in beer shortly before the double crime was committed. In the yard in the rear of the premises were empty bottles enough to lead to the supposition that a "speak easy" had been conducted upon the premises.
While the condition of the lamps made it appear that the double crime was committed in the daytime, it is possible it occurred Friday night after Fisher returned to the house from his place of employment. It is believed by some of the policemen that when he reached the house he found some other person there with Mrs. Yates, and his jealousy was aroused. He may have threatened to leave her, they say, by way of speculation, and while pleading with him to remain the shooting occurred.
The revolver was found on the floor back of the woman. How either of the two could have thrown it there the police are unable to explain. It was there, however, and there is no one left to tell about it. The woman, it is stated, was desperately in love with Fisher. She had a crayon of him hanging on the wall and letters she had received from him were on the bureau in the rear sleeping apartment on the second floor. When Fisher found that he was going to be detailed at his place of employment he always sent Mrs. Yates a special delivery letter. She had demanded it of him, friends say, and when he would reach the house he made explanations. It is known that the couple frequently engaged in quarrels, and that their troubles had attracted the attention of neighbors. The house in which the deed was committed is elegantly furnished and gave every evidence that the dead woman had been an excellent housekeeper.
Identified as Fisher's Revolver
The small revolver with which the two lives were taken was owned by Fisher, the police were told, and was usually kept on a bureau in the room where the woman slept. It was there a few days ago when a sister of Mrs. Yates called and picked it up. She started to examine it, but her sister became frightened and made her let it alone. The window shutters of the house were all open and there was nothing unusual about exterior appearances. In the yard a number of chickens were scratching in the snow for food. They had been resting on the sills of the windows.
After Coroner Nevitt had made an investigation he had the bodies removed to the morgue. Detective Baur was sent to the house of Captain Boardman to make an investigation. He found Acting Sergeant Wall and Policemen Price and Hayes of the fifth precinct upon the premises, assisting the coroner in the investigation.

Before leaving the premises the coroner said he would await the result of the police investigation before giving certificates showing the primary cause of the shooting.

Unless a third wound be found the police may never be able to explain the double crime, nor determine which died first. Coroner Nevitt was inclined to give the woman the benefit of the doubt and decide that Fisher killed her and she committed suicide. There were some circumstances about the case, however, which indicated that Mrs. Gates had done the shooting. Fisher was fully dressed, even to his overcoat and muffler, and the woman had on her ordinary house clothes. Their bodies were found in the dining room near the door leading to the parlor. On the floor near the bodies was a napkin that was saturated with blood. It was apparent that the napkin had been used by somebody for the purpose of wiping away blood. There had been a hemorrhage from the wound in Fisher's head, but scarcely any blood had been shed by the woman. This condition of affairs gave some of the police the impression that the latter had done the shooting. After Fisher had been shot, either in the act of suicide or by Mrs. Yates, they suggested, the woman wiped the blood from his wound and receiving no response from her cries for recognition, had shot herself. This theory, it was pointed out, is more plausible than any other, for the reason that the woman's feet rested across Fisher's legs.

Door Fastened Inside

When Mrs. Jackson and her daughter reached the house this morning they found the doors securely fastened from the inside. Repeated knocks on the door brought no response and Miss Jackson managed to reach the back yard. When she received no response to her knocks on the door she broke it open and entered. The room was well-lighted by the sun's rays as the back window blinds were open. As soon as she looked in the dining room she saw the two bodies. She screamed and it was but a short time before there was a large crowd of curious people about the house. Mrs. Jackson and two daughters were admitted to the front room and remained there for some time. When the bodies had been removed to the morgue the police took charge of the premises and will remain in possession until the court takes charge.

Theodore Fisher, or "Ted" Fisher, as he was called, has been employed in a number of saloons about the city. He was a member of the bartenders union. It is said he lived in South Washington most of his life. His sister, at whose house he lived, was notified of his death. She will have an undertaker take charge of the body as soon as the police investigation is finished. The dead woman will probably be buried by her mother.

Third Bullet Hole Not Found

When the bodies had been washed at the morgue and examined there was nothing to show that the third bullet had taken effect in either body. Coroner Nevitt decided that the large area of powder marks on the man's face indicates that the weapon had been held two feet or more from him, when the shot was fired. Had he committed suicide he would probably have held the weapon nearer his face.

He said the blood on the napkin had surely come from Fisher, as the bullet that ended his life had penetrated and passed almost entirely through the brain. The weapon had undoubtedly been held against the woman's breast when she received her wound.

The coroner said he was inclined to believe the shooting was done by Mrs. Yates, but as already stated, he will not give certificates in the case until the police make a further investigation.

The Evening Star, February 8, 1905

Mystery in Tragedy

Inquest Into Double Crime of Yesterday

Coroner Is In Doubt

Not Willing to Issue Certificate Without Inquiry

Third Person Implicated in the Affair Scouted by Police

Pistol Shot Heard Before

As there is still some mystery surrounding the double tragedy of yesterday in southeast Washington, which resulted in the deaths of Theodore Fisher and Mrs. Estella E. Yates, as told in The Star, the decision was reached by Coroner J. Ramsey Nevitt this forenoon to hold an inquest at the morgue at 11 o'clock tomorrow. This conclusion was arrived at by the coroner after a long conference at police headquarters, in which Dr. Nevitt, Captain Boardman and Detective Sergeant Frank Bauer took part.

"I will not arbitrarily brand either the man or the woman, one as a murderer and the other as a suicide," said Coroner Nevitt, "and for that reason, as some doubt exists in the matter, I have decided to hold an inquest and let a jury pass upon the case."

The theory advanced by some persons that there was a third party implicated in the double shooting case is scouted by the police as untenable. Captain Boardman, chief of detectives, who is noted for his cool and clear diagnoses of such matters, said to a Star reporter today that in his opinion there was no third party implicated in the tragedy.

The third shot theory is not considered of any importance as tending to prove anything unusual. The third empty shell may have represented a shot that was fired on another occasion. In fact, it was said today that one night about a week ago a pistol shot was heard in the vicinity of the woman's home, and it is believed Fisher may have fired at a cat, as there are many strange felines in that vicinity with high falsetto voices, which they indulge in midnight concerts, to the great annoyance of the neighborhood.

Investigated the Shooting

The police have, it is said, investigated the shooting case from every possible point of view, and as a result they are strongly of the opinion that the shot that killed Fisher was fired by the woman after a serious quarrel between the two. Their theory concerning the position the man and woman were found in is that after she had fired the fatal shot and Fisher had fallen to the floor, Mrs. Yates placed her arm under his head in an effort to raise him to his feet. Finding that the man was dead, and still holding the revolver in her right hand she placed the muzzle in her breast and fired the shot which resulted in her death.

As to the location of the pistol, after the act had been committed Coroner Nevitt stated that after a person has received a fatal wound the arms are sometimes contracted and at other times are violently outstretched, and, therefore, the revolver might have been found in almost any part of the room. The police believe the woman was of an exceedingly jealous disposition and fired the first shot in the heat of passion. Then realizing what she had done, she turned the pistol on herself. It is believed evidence to substantiate these beliefs will be presented tomorrow at the coroner's inquest.

The theory that Mrs. Yates fired the first shot, killing Fisher, was given strength today by the statement of a life-long friend of Fisher, who stated that he was a good-natured fellow, of kindly disposition and not given to quarrels or brawls.

"Why," said a friend, "Theodore would not have killed a fly."

Tried to Break Relations

Miss Blanche Jackson, a sister of Mrs. Estelle Yates, said to a Star reporter this morning that her sister had met Fisher about two years ago and that they had been close friends since that time, and at various times during the past two months Mrs. Yates has tried every way possible to break the relations that have been existing between them. But each time after she had asked Fisher to leave he always returned and would invariably beat her. Fisher was subject to epileptic fits, she said, and would sometimes declare after he had beaten her that he did not remember touching her at any time.

One time during the month of December, she said, after they had boarded a car on 7th street within several squares of her mother's home, and because she had noticed a male friend, he assaulted her, and when she ran screaming back to the house she was without hat and cloak and was about to go into hysterics.

Several times of late Mrs. Yates, she said, had announced the intention of going back to her husband, but to this Fisher always objected strenuously and would threaten to do her bodily harm.

In regard to the statement that Mrs. Yates was running a "speak easy" at the house and the large number of empty bottles that were found in the backyard, that is not correct, she said, as a brother who is employed in a brewery had the beer at the house so as to treat his friends when they called and her sister rarely ever drank at all.

Enacted Friday Night

It is pretty well settled now that the double tragedy was enacted last Friday night after Fisher had left his place of business. The fact that Fisher was fully dressed, as if ready to leave the house, seems to indicate that the woman was endeavoring to restrain him from going out. That he had threatened to break up the relations which had existed between them and was about to put his threat into execution when in desperation she shot him.

It was after a realization of the awful act she had committed that Mrs. Yates killed herself rather than face her relatives and the law. This is the accepted theory of the police.

The funeral of Theodore Fisher will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the home of his sister, Mrs. Burnsides, at 605 6th street southwest, interment to be at Prospect Hill cemetery.

The remains of Mrs. Yates have been turned over to John H. Bradley, undertaker, at 443 7th street southwest. They will be removed to the family residence, 348 McLean avenue southwest, whence the funeral will take place.

The police are busy this afternoon notifying witnesses who reside near the scene of the double shooting, 1018 12th street southeast, to be present at the coroner's inquest tomorrow.

The Evening Star, February 9, 1905

Murdered By Woman

Verdict Regarding the Death of "Ted" Fisher

Coroner's Inquest

Testimony Give at Investigation of Double Tragedy

Drs. Glazebrook and Carr Describe Nature of Wounds Inflicted Upon Both Victims

It required six men but a short time to reach a conclusion this morning after they had listened to the testimony of a number of witnesses respecting the double tragedy which was enacted in house 1018 12th street southeast Saturday morning, presumably a short time after midnight. The inquest was held over the body of Theodore, or "Ted" Fisher, and the verdict was that he was shot and killed by the woman. It, therefore, follows that the woman took her own life. Fisher, as published in Tuesday's Star, was employed as bartender in Reagan's saloon at 10th and B streets. He lived at the house of his sister on 6th street, but spent much of his time at the house where he was murdered.

There was a large attendance of friends of the dead man at the inquest this morning. Attorney James F. Scaggs was present on behalf of the relatives of Fisher.

The funerals of the victims took place this afternoon. Mrs. Yates was buried at Congressional cemetery, after services had been held at the home of her sister on McLean avenue. Services over the remains of Fisher were conducted at the home of his sister on 6th street southwest. His body was interred at Prospect Hill.

Dr. Carr's Testimony

The first witness examined was Dr. William P. Carr, who testified to the nature of the wound received by Fisher. It was such a wound, he said, as was likely to produce unconsciousness instantly. Witness explained that the powder marks about his left eye indicated that the weapon was held one foot or eighteen inches from the victim's head at the time the shot was fired.

"Then, too," said the doctor, "the man had his eye opened when the wound was received.

The witness stated that Fisher would have had to hold the weapon at arm's length and such a manner of inflicting a wound, he said, would seem rather unusual. Dr. Carr said the blood in the room had come from the man's head, as there was practically no external hemorrhage from the wound in the woman's breast.

"When the woman received her wound," said the witness, "the pistol was held directly against her breast."

Witness was shown the clothing of the woman and showed the jury a pad she had worn. The bullet had gone through the pad. Witness also explained that blood on the woman's shoes showed that she had walked in blood before she fell upon the floor in the room where both bodies were found. Only a few drops of blood came from the wound in Mrs. Yates' body and it was not enough to soak through the pad.

Coroner Nevitt exhibited a piece of brown paper showing the result of shots he had fired from the revolver used in the killing of Fisher and Mrs. Yates. The powder stains were explained, showing the result of the shots fired into the two victims.

Deputy Coroner Glazebrook described the wounds received by the victims. The wound in the man's head had gone straight through the brain. Fisher was a tall man, and for a woman of ordinary height to have fired the shot it was necessary for him to have been seated on a chair, engaged in a scuffle or on the floor. Dr. Glazebrook said he had given the question of shooting some consideration and was certain the weapon was at least fourteen inches from Fisher's head when the fatal shot was fired. He was certain the man could not have shot himself. It was also unlikely that the man could have shot himself and kept his eye open. The wound was necessarily fatal and the bullet passed through the most important structures of the brain. Witness thought the man could hardly have given more than one or two gasps after he was shot. In conclusion he repeated that the man could hardly have shot himself.

Condition of the Room

Coroner Nevitt explained the condition of the room and the positions of the bodies when he reached the house. There was but a small area of blood in the room, and most of this was about the man. The clothing of the woman showed blood stains. This blood came from the man as she had not had any external hemorrhage. The coroner told of the positions of the bodies, as stated in The Star the day the bodies were found. Her left arm was under his head and the left side of her face was against the floor. He told of the three empty shells found in the small weapon, and said he could only account for two of them. He told of the shattered glass stand on the sideboard and suggested that the third bullet may have done this damage.

Policeman Hayes Called

Policeman Hayes of the fifth precinct, who was called to the 12th street house, testified that he was called to the house about 11:15 o'clock Tuesday morning. He first learned that something unusual had occurred when he met a brother officer. The latter told him there had been a murder and suicide committed there. He hurried to the house and found several persons there. Another officer turned the weapon over to him. He told of the positions in which he found the bodies.

"Who was in the house when you reached there?" the witness was asked.

"There were two ladies and two men," he responded.

"Who were they?"

"One lady was Mamie Jackson, a sister of Mrs. Yates, and the other I didn't know. The men were named Higgs and Stone."

Actin Sergeant Wall of the fifth precinct testified that he went to the house in response to a telephone message giving the information that somebody had committed suicide. It was about 11 o'clock when the message was received from Ernschaw's store, he stated. Mrs. Yates' mother and others were in the house. The mother was hysterical at times and it was necessary to use force to get her out of the house.

Witness stated that the pistol had been disturbed before he reached the house. Mrs. Jackson, mother of the dead woman, had the pistol in her hand and witness took it from her.

"Why did you take the pistol?" the witness was asked.

"I took it," he answered, "to keep her from doing any harm with it."

He did not ask her where she found the weapon. She was so hysterical and excited that witness had to take her out of the house. Witness told the jury that he saw one hand of the woman on the neck of the dead man when he reached the house.

Detective Frank Baur testified that he was sent to the house to make an investigation. His object was to discover whether the affair had been between the two persons who were dead or if a third party had been there. He found that the house had been securely fastened from the inside. Witness told of the broken glass stand on the sideboard and of the bloodstained napkin.

The napkin, he stated, had not been unfolded, but had been used by some person to wipe blood from Fisher. He also told of seeing three goblets on the dining room table in the room. Two of them contained small quantities of beer, while the third one contained water. There was blood on the one which contained water, and witness expressed the belief that an effort had been made to give water to one of the wounded persons. Witness said he had known of the woman for ten years. She was the wife of a blacksmith and they had separated after one of them had been interested in a Police Court case. He said he had been unable to trace the ownership of the weapon, but had learned that it had been in the house for several years. In the woman's trunk, he stated, there was a box of cartridges found yesterday. Seven of the cartridges had been taken out.

Exhibited the Cartridges

Coroner Nevitt exhibited the cartridges.

"There are forty-three of them in the box," he stated. "It seems to be a new box of 22-caliber cartridges and the weapon is of the same caliber."

Mr. Scaggs suggested that he would like to have the witness asked if he knew anything of a prior occasion upon which the woman assaulted the man.

Detective Baur said he had summoned witnesses to tell of that.

"The cut on the neck and vitriol, do you mean?" the detective said.

"Yes," replied Mr. Scaggs.

Witness said he learned of an arrangement that had been made between Mrs. Yates and a neighbor, whereby the latter was to take the milk left at her door if she happened to be away. This neighbor, he stated, had first taken the milk Saturday morning. Fisher had not been at his place of employment, Reagan's saloon, since Friday night.

Was at Work Friday

Maggie Prue, colored, who did washing for Mrs. Yates, testified that she ironed clothing at Mrs. Yates' house Friday. She went and got beer in a bucket twice that afternoon. Mrs. Yates and a woman friend had dinner together.

"I don't know what time it was when Mr. Ted came," the witness stated.

"Who is Mr. Ted?" she was asked.

"Mr. Fisher," was her response.

Witness said she took a note to a drug store for Mrs. Yates. It was for a telephone message to be sent to Mr. Fisher, and when an answer had not been received at 9 o'clock she returned to the house. Mr. Fisher entered the house just behind her and Mrs. Yates asked him where he had been. He told her he had been standing at the corner talking, and she accused him of having been with a red-haired girl. The quarrel and witness threatened to leave there. Mr. Fisher told her that Maggie was fussing all the time.

"Mr. Fisher was standing in the corner near the closet all the time they were fussing," the witness said.

Witness said she heard Mr. Fisher say: "Stella, you don't love me any more," and she responded. "No, I don't."

Maggie said she urged them to kiss and make up, but her advice was not heeded. The woman was doing most of the talking, the witness said, and Fisher would merely say, "Is that so?" or make some similar remark.

About 10 o'clock, the witness stated, she was asked by Mrs. Yates to go down town and get her a bucket of yet quo mein (yockamee), and she did as requested. She got lost on the cars and it was after 11 o'clock when she returned to the house.

Quarrel Accompanied by Profanity.

There was some swearing indulged in before she went from the house, and Mrs. Yates asked Fisher if he thought more of the red-haired girl than he did of her. He said he did not know, and she told him he ought to know. The woman gave her the bucket and the man handed her a quarter to give to the Chinaman at the "yockamee" joint.

When she returned with the food from the Chinese restaurant the quarrel had not ended. Fisher went out to get a bucket of beer, and said the saloon had closed when he returned. This was doubted by the woman, and she told him so.

Mrs. Yates started up the steps with a lamp in her hand, and Fisher asked her if she were going to bed. Her response was: "The ... I am."

Maggie said she again begged them to kiss and make up. They finally did so, and each declared love for the other. Witness said that Fisher took off his coat, but put it on again when he threatened to leave her.

"Did Fisher seem as if he had been drinking?" Maggie was asked.

"He was sober," she answered.

Witness said the woman had consumed several glasses of beer and a milk punch, but she could not say she was intoxicated, as she had a headache. Witness told of being unable to get in the house when she returned there Monday. She told of a conversation she had with a neighbor of Mrs. Yates.

A small colored girl named Pearl Green, who had worked in Mrs. Yates' house, was sworn. She said she had never heard Estella and Mr. Fisher quarrel, and was excused.

Robert Yates Testifies

Robert Yates, husband of the woman victim of the tragedy, testified that he and his wife separated after they had been married four years.

"Why did you separate?" he was asked.

"Indeed, I can't tell," was his answer.

He said they separated three years ago and that he last saw her in April of last year. He then went to see her because he heard she was sick.

Miss Blanche Jackson, sister of Mrs. Yates, testified to the finding of the bodies in the house Tuesday. Witness went there because she had not seen her sister since Tuesday of last week. She broke open the back door, she said, and entered the house.

"It was dark in the room," she continued, "and I only saw a broken glass. The next thing I knew I stumbled over his foot."

Witness said she did not see any weapon, as she hurried out for assistance.

Moses Sexton, a druggist, was next examined. He had sent the telephone message for Mrs. Yates to Mr. Fisher. Witness told of an incident at the house last summer in which it was said Mrs. Yates had thrown carbolic acid on Fisher's face. She told him that Fisher had a spasm and she threw the acid on him because she thought it was water.

James F. Filgate, manager of Regan's saloon, testified that Fisher had worked for him and had several times received injuries at the hands of the woman. His first injury consisted of scratches on his fingers.

"They had hardly healed," said witness, "before he came with his face scratched." Afterward, he said, he had come to work with a broken nose, then a cut in the throat and cut in his head, and the last time he noticed any injury, she had bit his hand.

Fisher, he said, was a quiet and peaceable man, and had often told him he was going to leave the woman. She came to the vicinity of the saloon a number of times, said witness, and he had to call on the police to take her away.

On one occasion, witness stated, she was taken sick, but he could not say that she took carbolic acid. She had some of the acid and a knife in her satchel, the witness stated, and was taken to the hospital. The woman was very annoying, he said, and he tried to have a stop put to her sending telephone messages to the saloon. This closed the testimony and the case was submitted.

Yates, Grace Emily d. 7 Sep 1909 2 yrs. 3 mos. 10 days R95/188

Yates. On Tuesday, September 7, 1909 at 5:30 p.m. at the residence of her parents, 1313 I street northeast, Grace Emily Yates, beloved daughter of Gideon J. and Bertha Yates, aged 2 years 3 months 10 days.

God needed one more angel
To complete his shining band
And came with loving smile
And clasped our darling's hand.

By Papa, Mama and Brother Lester

Funeral Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Yates, Harold W. d. 6 Apr 1906 R22/204

Yates. On Friday, April 6, 1906 at 3 o'clock p.m. at George Washington University Hospital, Harold W. Yates of Colonial Beach, Va. Funeral from Lee's Chapel, 332 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, Monday, April 9 at 3 p.m.

Yates, Naomi d. 27 Mar 1907 16 yrs. R82/253

The Evening Star, March 27, 1907, p. 2
Death in The Canal
Young Woman, Aged About 16, Commits Suicide
Body is Soon Recovered
Persons Who Witnessed the Tragedy Unable to Effect Rescue
Name of Girl Not Learned

*Act Was Deliberate and Followed Perusal of Letter--
The Remains at the Morgue*

A neatly dressed girl about sixteen years of age, after placing her hat and coat upon the wall of the Chesapeake and Ohio canal, about one mile above Georgetown, shortly after 11 o'clock this morning, deliberately walked to the bank of the canal and jumped in. Persons who were near undertook to rescue her, but after floating in the water for ten or fifteen minutes and apparently strangling the young woman sank below the surface and did not reappear. At the point where she placed her hat and wrap upon the wall there is a gap, and to those who stood some distance away, but too far to render immediate aid, she was seen to lay the hat and garment down deliberately and walk through the aperture to the bank, which stands about four feet above the canal. As she stood there she was apparently perusing a letter, but was suddenly seen to tear the paper into small bits, and a moment thereafter plunged into the waters of the canal. George Portch, who lives near the scene; William Anderson of Tenleytown and Mr. and Mrs. G.A. Harlow of 3513 Prospect avenue northwest witnessed the occurrence and immediately raised an outcry.

After several attempts to recover the body the efforts were abandoned until the arrival of the harbor police boat and several policemen from the seventh precinct station, which is located in Georgetown. The body was then dragged for, and shortly after 1 o'clock was recovered and immediately thereafter removed to the morgue to await identification.

Mr. Anderson stated to a Star reporter at noon that if he had not been afraid of being drowned himself on account of the heavy clothes he wore he would have dived into the waters of the canal and attempted to rescue the young woman.

The wrap which the girl placed upon the canal wall was made of a gray material, with stripes of the same shade, while the hat was of gray felt. She was neatly attired in a white shirt waist and black skirt. Her hair was of a light brown shade.

When the body was recovered a number of collection envelopes were found in a pocket in her clothing. These envelopes had printed upon them "Father Lights, 508 Tremont Temple, Boston," and on one envelope was written the name "N. Frances." The scraps of the letter which the girl had read before jumping into the water were carefully picked up by the superintendent of the tracks of the Washington Traction Company and later turned over to the police.

It is believed that the letter was from a young man friend of the girl, and that an engagement which she had had with him had not been kept, and for that reason and her disappointment she concluded to end her life. Upon several of the parts of the letter as gathered up the word "love" was noted.

The Evening Star, March 28, 1907, p. 5

Identified By Uncle

Name of Girl Who Committed Suicide Disclosed

Naomi Yates, Stepdaughter of Albert Francis, and Pupil in the Dent School

The name of the girl who committed suicide yesterday by drowning in the canal, as stated in yesterday's Star, has been ascertained to be Naomi Yates, the name N. Francis which was written on an envelope found in her coat pocket being her adopted name. Her stepfather, Albert Francis, lives at 764 6th street southeast. Naomi, who was sixteen years of age, was a pupil at the Dent School. She did not go to school yesterday, and when she failed to appear at home during the noon recess her mother and stepfather became uneasy. They made inquiries about her, only to find that she had not been at school. It is stated the child had been away from home on prior occasions, and her parents thought she had gone to the home of relatives. Late yesterday afternoon, however, they learned of the suicide.

It is stated that about two weeks ago Naomi threatened she would end her life by throwing herself in front of a street car. At that time, it is said, she remained at the home of a friend over night, and in the morning she told the latter she had 9 cents in her pocket.

"I'm going as far as the 9 cents will take me," she said, "and then I'm going to throw myself in front of a street car."

Friend Gives Counsel

The friend of the child hardly thought she meant to take her life, but she talked to her about the wrong she would do by committing such an act, and Naomi went home instead of taking her proposed last car ride. Naomi was a devout member of the Sunday school at the Second Baptist Church and was looked upon as being one of the best Bible scholars in the school. The envelopes found in her coat pocket she had been given by the church people to get filled for a Boston charity. She suffered from an affliction of the hip, and her ailment caused her considerable trouble.

It is said that she had arranged to attend a dance and that this was not looked upon with favor by some of her relatives. As stated yesterday, a letter was torn in small pieces by the girl just before she leaped from the bank of the canal.

Contents of Letter

The Georgetown police last night put together enough of the letter to enable them to read:

"My Dear Girlie: I am sorry my little girl has become tired of serving a kind and loving Savior and that she is serving his enemy. I am hoping that you will change your mind about going to the dance. Am sorry that you and Ada are not on the best of terms, but I am not surprised. You were too thick.

"Now, dearie, of course I am not going to scold you. Won't you give up everything and look to Jesus? You're grieving him far more than ---

"I have given my best energies to help you to be a girl pleasing in God's sight. Won't you come back? I say won't you come back, because, dearie, you have wandered away. Hoping yet to see my little girl a bright and happy Christian, I am with lots of love and kisses, your aunt

"NET."

The letter that was destroyed by Miss Yates was not written by her aunt, as was at first supposed, but by her Sunday school teacher, Miss Jennette Teachum. As stated, the young woman contemplated taking her life at the time she made the remark about the 9 cents, and that money she still had yesterday when she parted with a companion, after telling her she was going to dispose of the money "the same as she had told another friend two weeks ago." When her stepfather learned yesterday she had not been in school during the morning he searched her room and found some writings left there by her which indicated that she had been considering the question of suicide, expressing herself upon the question in poetry. It is stated that she had written messages to friends telling of her affliction and saying there was nothing left in the world for which she wanted to live.

Harry J. Luskey, uncle of the deceased, read the account of the suicide of the girl yesterday afternoon, and later in the day he went to the morgue and identified the body. Coroner Nevitt made an investigation and gave the necessary certificate of death. Undertaker J. William Lee took charge of the body and removed it to the home of the family. It is likely that the funeral will take place tomorrow.

Yates, William A.	d. 15 Jun 1907	R22/204
Yates. On Saturday, June 15, 1907 at Colonial Beach, Va., William A. Yates. Funeral from Lee's chapel, 332 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, Tuesday, June 18 at 4 o'clock p.m. Interment at Congressional Cemetery.

Yates, William J.	d. 26 Apr 1898	26 yrs.	R82/253
Yates. On Tuesday, April 26, 1898 at 7 o'clock a.m., William J., beloved son of Jackson and Louisa Yates in the 27th year of his age. Funeral from his late residence, 488 Maryland avenue southwest on Thursday, April 28 at 2 o'clock p.m. Friends and relatives of family respectfully invited to attend.

Name	Birth/Death	Age	Range/Site
Yeates, Franklin P.	d. 25 Mar 1878	18 yrs. 6 mos.	R65/52
Yates. On the 25th of March 1878 at 3:10 o'clock, Franklin P. Yates, aged 18 years 6 months. Relatives and friends of the family are invited to attend the funeral from Grace Church, Wednesday 2 o'clock p.m.
Yeates, Margaret L.	d. 30 Nov 1882		R72/66
Yeates. Thursday, November 30, 1882 of pneumonia, Margaret L. Yates, beloved wife of William Yeates. Relatives and friends are invited to attend the funeral at her late residence, No. 924 G street southwest on Sunday, December 3d at 1 p.m.

Name	Birth/Death	Age	Range/Site
Yeatman, Edward Raymond	d. 12 Jul 1888	3 mos. 2 days	R95/338
Yeatman. On July 12, 1888, Edward Raymond, infant son of George W. and Fannie E. Yeatman, aged 3 months and 2 days. Suffer little children to come unto me, for of such is the kingdom of Heaven. Funeral Saturday, 14th instant, at 3 o'clock, from parents' residence, 461 G street southwest. Relatives and friends invited.
Yeatman, Emma Bell	d. 1 Jan 1934		R95/119
Yeatman. On Monday, January 1, 1934, at her residence, South Clifton Terrace, Emma B. Yeatman, beloved aunt of Sadie Yeatman Lynn, Mary A. Lynn and R. Lee Lynn. Remains resting at the above address until Friday, January 5 at 11 a.m. Funeral services at the S.R. Hines Co. funeral home, 2901 14th st. n.w. on Friday, Januar 5 at 1 p.m. Interment Congressional Cemetery. The Evening Star, January 2, 1934 Miss Emma B. Yeatman Expires At Home Here Native of This City Had Been Active Worker in Baptist Church Organizations Miss Emma B. Yeatman, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John H. Yeatman and a resident of Washington all of her life, died yesterday at her home in the South Clifton Terrace Apartments. Miss Yeatman was a native of the District. She was active since early childhood as a worker in Baptist Church organizations here. A brother, the late Samuel M. Yeatman, also was prominent in Baptist Church work. Surviving are a niece, Miss Sadie Yeatman Lynn of this city; a step-niece, Mamie Lynn of Chesterton, Md., and a step-nephew, R. Lee Lynn of Roanoke, Va.
Yeatman, George W.	b. 20 May 1855 - d. 19 May 1911	55 yrs.	R95/339
Yeatman. Suddenly on Friday, May 19, 1911, George W., beloved husband of Fannie E. Yeatman in the 55th year of his age. Funeral will take place from his late residence, 490 Maryland avenue southwest on Monday at 2:30. Friends and relatives invited. The Evening Star, May 20, 1911, p. 3 Succumbs to Injuries Fall From Ladder in National Museum Fatal to G.W. Yeatman George W. Yeatman, who accidentally fell from a ladder yesterday morning while at work in the National Museum building, died at the Emergency Hospital yesterday afternoon, as the result of an unavoidable accident, Coroner Nevitt decided. Mr. Yeatman was a native of this city and was one of the best known residents of South Washington. He was a member of Lafayette Lodge, Knights Templar, a member of the Golden Cross and Amity Lodge, No. 27, Independent Order of Odd Fellows. He is survived by a wife and three children--Millard S. and George M. Yeatman and Mrs. Fanny L. Rabbitt. Harry F. Rabbitt, son-in-law of the deceased, was working near the scene of the accident yesterday when Mr. Yeatman fell. Funeral services for Mr. Yeatman will probably be held Monday at his late home, 490 Maryland avenue southwest.
Yeatman, John	d. 21 Feb 1864	6 mos.	Public Vault
Yeatman. In this city on the 21st, at 11:30 p.m., Johnnie, infant son of J.H. and Sarah J. Yeatman, aged 6 months. Once we had a fragrant blossom Full of sweetness, full of love But the angels came and plucked it For the beauteous region above. Little Johnnie was our darling, Pride of all the hearts at home But the angels hovered near him, And whispered "Johnnie, come." Yet, sweet Johnnie we will meet thee In the joyous realms above; Gladly we will haste to greet thee

In the land of light and love.
 The friends of the family are invited to attend the funeral, from the parents' residence, corner of ? and B streets at 3 p.m. on Tuesday, the 23d instant.

Yeatman, John H. d. 14 Apr 1886 R96/119

Yeatman. After a long and painful illness, at 5:50 o'clock a.m., Wednesday, April 14th, 1886, John H. Yeatman, a native of Westmoreland county, Va., but for many years a resident of this city, in the sixty-fourth year of his age. Funeral services will be held in the First Baptist church, Thirteenth street, between G and K street northwest, on Friday, April 16th, at four o'clock p.m. Relatives and friends invited to be present. No flowers.

The Evening Star, April 14, 1886

Death of Mr. John H. Yeatman

Mr. John H. Yeatman, an old citizen of Washington, died this morning at his home, 738 12th street northwest, after an illness of several months. Mr. Yeatman, who was sixty-four years of age, was born in Westmoreland county, Va., but came to this city to live in 1840. He resided here from that time most continuously until his death. He was for many years engaged in the butter business. He was identified with the Baptist church, a member at the time of his death of the first church, 13th street, and was very active in religious movements. The funeral will take place Friday afternoon at four o'clock.

Yeatman, Lillian Hercus d. 19 Jul 1871 1 yr. 2 mos. 14 days R95/121

Yeatman. On the 19th inst. At 8 p.m., Lillian Hercus, infant daughter of Samuel M. and Annie V. Yeatman, aged 12 months 14 days. Funeral tomorrow (Thursday) at 3 p.m. from residence, 220 13th street between B and C s.w.

Yeatman, Mary V. d. 8 Jul 1883 27 yrs. R96/120

Yeatman. At Foster Hall, Prince William County, Va., at 8:20 o'clock a.m. on Saturday, July 8, 1883, Mary V. daughter of John H. and Sarah J. Yeatman, aged 27. The remains will be brought to the residence of her brother, 207 13th street southwest. Funeral from First Baptist Church, Tuesday, July 10 at 11 o'clock a.m. Relatives and friends are invited to attend.

Yeatman, Robert W.G. d. 21 Jan 1854 3 yrs. 3 mo. 27 days R96/121

Yeatman. On the 21st instant, Robert W.S. Yeatman, son of Mr. J.H. Yeatman, aged 3 years 3 months and 27 days.

Yeatman, Samuel M. d. 31 Oct 1913 R100/177

Yeatman. Suddenly on Friday, October 31, 1913, Samuel M., son of George M. and Lillie (Golden) Yeatman. Funeral Monday, November 3 at 2 o'clock from the residence of his parents, 639 Maryland avenue southwest. Interment private.

Yeatman, Samuel Raymond d. 15 Jun 1887 4 mos. 9 days R95/338

Yeatman. On June 15, 1887 at 10 o'clock p.m., Samuel Raymond, infant son of George W. and Fannie E. Yeatman, aged 4 months 9 days.

Sleep my Raymond, thy days are ended

All thy suffering her below

Go by angel guards attended

To thy sight of Jesus go.

Funeral from 461 G street southwest at 3:34 o'clock p.m. Relatives and friends are invited.

Yeatman, Samuel Whitfield d. 27 Oct 1877 6 yrs. 1 mos. 7 days R95/121

Yeatman. At 6 o'clock on the morning of the 27th of October, 1877, at the residence of his grandfather in Prince William county, Va., Samuel Whitfield, eldest son of Samuel Q. and Annie V. Yeatman, aged 6 years 1 month and 7 days. Funeral will take place from the 5th Baptist Church, D street, between 6th and 4 1/2 streets southwest on Tuesday afternoon, October 3), at 2 o'clock. The relatives and friends of the family are requested to attend.

Yeatman, Sarah T. d. 29 Jul 1899 78 yrs. 1 mos. R96/118

Yeatman. At her residence, 738 12th street northwest, Saturday, July 29, 1899 at 3:50 p.m., Sarah . Yeatman, widow of the late John H. Yeatman in the 79th year of her age. Funeral services at the First Baptist Church, 16th and O streets northwest on Tuesday, August 1 at 4 o'clock p.m. Friends and relatives respectfully invited to attend.

The Evening Star, July 31, 1899, p. 7

Funeral of Mrs. Yeatman

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Sarah J. Yeatman will be held tomorrow at 1 o'clock at the First Baptist Church, 16th and O streets northwest. Mrs. Yeatman was the widow of John H. Yeatman and was in the 79th year of her age. She had resided continuously in this city for the past fifty-nine years. Her family consists of three daughters, the Misses Emma and Alice Yeatman, and Mrs. R.E. Lynn of Richmond, Va., and a son, S.M. Yeatman, who is secretary of the Georgetown Law School.

Name	Birth/Death	Age	Range/Site
Yerby, Thurza Yerby. In this city on the 1st instant, Mrs. Thurza Yerby, consort of W.W. Yerby in the 52d year of her age. Her friends are invited to attend her funeral tomorrow at 4 o'clock p.m. from her late residence, No. 438 H street, between 10 and 11th streets.	d. 1 Sep 1856	51 yrs.	R64/131

Name	Birth/Death	Age	Range/Site
Yoe, Mrs. Mary Yoe. On the morning of the 5th instant at the house of her son-in-law, Mr. Thomas Mustin of this city, Mrs. Mary Yoe in the full triumph of Christian love, aged nearly 70 years.	d. 5 Sep 1846	70 yrs.	R39/135

Name	Birth/Death	Age	Range/Site
Yonson, John H. The Evening Star, April 29, 1871 Singular and Sad Accident Bursting of a Soda Fountain--A Man Mortally Wounded and a Boy Seriously Injured This morning about 11 o'clock, as Mr. Samuel Shreeves, druggist in Uniontown, D.C., was charging a soda fountain, it burst, and a portion of the casing was driven into the breast of Mr. Shreeves, causing a frightful wound, which it is feared will result in his death. A youth employed in the store had his thigh badly lacerated by the explosion, and will probably have to lose his leg by amputation. Drs. Coombs, Latimer, and Winston are attending the sufferers. The explosion made a sound like the firing of a twelve-pounder. The Evening Star, May 1, 1871 Killed By Explosion of a Soda Fountain The STAR of Saturday contained a brief statement of the explosion of a soda water fountain at the drug store of Mr. S.F. Shreeve, in Uniontown, that day badly injuring the proprietor and his clerk--Mr. John H. Yonson. The two were engaged in preparing the soda apparatus, Mr. Shreeve being engaged in pouring the vitriol, when the generator exploded with a report as loud as that of a field piece, and the fragments struck Mr. Shreeve in the left breast, throwing him against the side of the house and inflicting a serious wound. Mr. Yonson received fatal injuries, a portion of the casing striking him on the legs nearly severing the right one, and inflicting ghastly wounds on the left. He died about two o'clock in the afternoon, surrounded by a number of his friends and relatives. Mr. Yonson was about 18 years of age, and resided prior to his going into Mr. Shreeve's employ on F street south, between 4 1/2 and 6th streets. He was a graduate of the Fourth District Grammar School, Mr. John E. Thompson teacher, and was one of the brightest and most promising pupils who left it for active life. He was a member of the Sixth Presbyterian Sunday School, and yesterday morning Mr. C.B. Pearson, superintendent, announced his death, and paid a high tribute to his many endearing and noble qualities which made him a favorite with all. He appointed three of his classmates to attend his funeral, and act with three other school mates from Mr. Thompson's school, as pallbearers. In the morning service the pastor, Rev. Mason Noble, dwelt at length on the sad bereavement to the family. The funeral took place this afternoon from the Sixth Presbyterian Church. Mr. Shreeve, whose breast was dreadfully lacerated, laid several hours senseless, and for a time his recovery was extremely doubtful. His condition has materially improved, however, and the physicians do not now regard his injuries as necessarily fatal, but not being in robust health, it is feared he may not recover.	b. 1853 - d. 29 Apr 1871	18 yrs.	R4/25
Yonson, Mary M. Yonson. Suddenly on Tuesday, April 12, 1892 at 1:45 a.m., Mrs. Mary M. Yonson ,widow of the late William Yonson in the sixty ninth year of her age. Funeral from her late residence 721 F street southwest Friday April 15 at 2 o'clock pm.	b. 1823 – d. 12 Apr 1892	68 yrs.	R4/27
Yonson, Mary V. Daughter of William and Mary Yonson.	b. 1856 – d. 6 Sep 1860		R4/25
Yonson, William Yonson. On September 13th, 1885, at 10:14 p.m., William Yonson, aged 71 years 9 months and 18 days. Funeral will take place from his late residence, No. 621 Sixth street southwest, on Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.	b. 26 Nov 1813 - d. 13 Sep 1885	71 yrs. 9 mos. 18 days	R4/26
Yonson, William N. Yonson. On Thursday, October 25, 1894, at 10 o'clock a.m., William N. Yonson, beloved husband of Anna C. Yonson, aged 36 years. Funeral from 635 G street northeast Sunday at 3 p.m.	b. 26 Jan 1858 - d. 25 Oct 1894	36 yrs.	R4/28

Name	Birth/Death	Age	Range/Site
------	-------------	-----	------------

Yost, Adele Webster d. 18 May 1891 2 yrs. 5 mos. R82/357

Yost. On Monday, May 18, 1891, at 9:20 a.m., Adele Webster, aged 2 years and 5 months, youngest child of Amos S. and Alice Yost.

As the lily, blighted by the untimely frosts, or hurried to the dust by the overwhelming tempests, so faded away this darling cherub, the hope of its fond and afflicted parents.

O sudden and unlooked for doom!
Ere gained from heaven the strength to part,
Ere gained the power to say farewell,
As fades the lily's tender gloom
Beneath the wrathful tempest's power,
So art thou hurried to the tomb.

By M.E.Y.

Funeral from the residence of her parents, 1009 C street northeast, Wednesday, at 2:20 p.m.

Yost, Alice M. d. 16 Jan 1934 R81/358

Yost, Alice M. On Tuesday, January 16, 1934, at 9:25 p.m., at her residence, 1004 Pennsylvania ave. s.e., Alice M., beloved wife of the late Amos S. Yost. She is survived by two sons, M. Guy and Raymond A. Yost, and two daughters, May E. Yost and Mrs. Irene Yost Otterback. Services will be held at her late residence on Friday, January 19, at 2 p.m. Interment in Congressional Cemetery.

Yost, Nellie d. 8 May 1885 2 yrs. R2/187

Jost. On May 8, 1885, Nellie R., third daughter of John and Rebecca Jost in the 3d year of her age. Funeral Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock from 229 12th street southeast. Friends and relatives are respectfully invited to attend.

Name	Birth/Death	Age	Range/Site
------	-------------	-----	------------

You, Moy	d. 8 Jun 1900	42 yrs.	R134/254
-----------------	---------------	---------	-----------------

The Evening Star, June 11, 1900

Moy You's Resting Place

Burial Yesterday Afternoon at Congressional Cemetery

Chinese Custom Observed by His Countrymen--

Departed Spirit Provided With Food and Money

All that was mortal of Moy You is at rest in Congressional Cemetery, his burial having taken place yesterday afternoon. In the grave was placed food enough to last Moy until the time comes for removal of his remains to China. Eighteen bodies of celestials now repose beneath the sod in the local cemetery.

Moy You had labored in this city for several years, although he had not saved much money. He had enough, however, to pay his living expenses even after he became ill of consumption. Fellow countrymen waited on him, and under their direction the doctor's directions were carried but to the very letter. But two days ago he breathed his last. Undertaker J. William Lee prepared the body for burial.

It was not until a few minutes before the procession started for the cemetery that the undertaker was directed to have the hearse and carriages on hand at 2 o'clock. Six carriages followed the hearse, and on the latter vehicle sat a Chinaman, a near relative of the deceased. He dropped on the street small slips of paper in which nine perforations had been made. These slips represented money and were thrown away in order that the evil spirits might be tempted and would lose sight of the departed spirit while gathering in the cash. Following behind the funeral procession were a number of small barefooted boys and they were the "demons" who collected the money. They followed the body to the grave and stood there to see the burning of the candies and sticks of incense, and afterward had a share of some Chinese candy that was passed around.

The Food Supply

Upon the arrival of the funeral party at the cemetery the casket was placed on the skids beside the open grave and there it rested while friends of the deceased prepared the spread, consisting of chicken that had been cooked in oil; some rice, tea, and a fancy cake. Two sets of china were spread on the ground and tea was poured into small cups. The Chinamen, in turn, picked up the cups of tea and motioned with them about the body, but did not touch the beverage. While this was being done the candies and incense were burning, and when the body had been lowered, the eatables, beverage and sets of china were placed on the cover of the box. Then began the work of filling the grave, and while this was being done, those who stood about the grave indulged in candy and distributed coins of small denomination wrapped in red paper.

The Price of Ferriage

It was explained that this part of the ceremony was done for the purpose of paying the way of the departed spirit across the river. A bunch of handsome white roses rested on the casket. On the card attached to the flowers was written: "For Mr. You." In a short time friends of the departed will visit the grave and leave eatables for the deceased.

It is expected that the bodies of the Chinamen in Congressional cemetery will be disinterred and taken to China this year.

Name	Birth/Death	Age	Range/Site
Young, (Child) Child of Thomas Young	d. 3 Jun 1821	2 days	R34/10
Young, (Son) Son of Thomas Young	d. 19 Oct 1820	3 yrs.	R34/10
Young, Adelaide E. Young. On October 25, 1882 at 4:30 p.m. in Irondale, Preston co., West Virginia at the residence of her son-in-law, Alexander Strausy, Adelaide E., wife of Dr. Noble Young and daughter of the late Dr. Alexander M. Williams of Washington, D.C. Funeral on Friday morning the 27th at 10 o'clock from Trinity Church.	d. 25 Oct 1882		R54/23
Young, Alexander Young. Suddenly Wednesday, December 28, 1927, Alexander Young. Remains resting at Lee's undertaking establishment. Notice of funeral hereafter.	d. 28 Dec 1927		R97/375
Young, Ann Young. At the Louise Home on Monday evening, October 9, 1871, Ann Young. The time of the funeral will be announced in the morning newspapers tomorrow.	d. 9 Oct 1871		R81/121
Young, Anna Young. Of intermittent fever on the 21st ultimo, Anna oldest daughter of Mr. John A. Young, formerly of Baltimore.	d. 21 Oct 1843		R74/39
Young, Anna P. Young. On Thursday, August 25, 1892, at 1 o'clock p.m., Anna P., wife of George W. Young. Gone from earth, yes, gone forever, Tear-dimmed eyes shall gaze in vain, We shall hear her voice, oh, never, Never more on earth again. Home is sad, oh, God, how dreary, Lonesome, lonesome every spot, Listening for her voice till weary, Weary, for we hear her not. Our dear mother, must she leave us? Must we place her with the dead? How can we hear the cold earth fall Down upon our mother's head? She was thoughtful, loving, tender With us, each and every one. How she suffered, but is now rejoicing, Her joy in heaven has just begun. By Her Children Funeral Saturday from her late residence, 1112 8th street southeast, at 4 o'clock. Relatives and friends invited to attend.	d. 25 Aug 1892		R17/74
Young, Cecelia F. Wife of Robert W. Young.	b. 1854 – d. 9 May 1923		R82/307
Young, Charles Bedford Young. On Friday, morning, August 23, 1918 at 6 o'clock, Charles Bedford Young in the 88th year of his age. Funeral services will be held at the residence of his nephew, George W. Spencer, U.S.N., No. 1331 Kenyon street northwest on Monday, August 26 at 10 o'clock a.m.	d. 23 Aug 1918	87 yrs.	R43/175
Young, Clara C. Young, Clara. On Saturday, July 23, 1932 at her residence, Capitol Heights, Md., Clara Young, beloved wife of William J. Young and grandmother of Ida Sacrey Viehmann and Clara Young Garvey. Funeral from the chapel of J. William Lee Sons, 332 Pennsylvania avenue northwest on Tuesday, July 26 at 2 p.m. Relatives and friends invited to attend. Interment in Congressional cemetery. Charles H. Washington and Clara Hill married, 13 Jan 1876.	d. 26 Jul 1932		R99/62

Name	Birth/Death	Age	Range/Site
Young, Cornelia H.	d. 7 Feb 1849		Public Vault
Young. On Sunday morning the 4th instant in the 52d year of her age, Cornelia H., wife of Commander John J. Young, U.S. Navy. Her funeral will take place on Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock from the residence of Lt. McArthur. The friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend.
Young, David	d. 10 May 1823	68 yrs.	R33/62
Young. In this city on Saturday evening, Mr. David Young, formerly of Newry, Ireland, but for several years a resident of this city in the 69th year of his age.
Young, Dora	d. 8 Aug 1856	13 days	R43/174
Young. On the 8th instant., Dora, daughter of Charles B. and Jane E. young, aged 13 days.
Young, Mrs. Eliza	d. 10 Aug 1848		R54/21
Young. On the 10th instant, Mrs. Eliza Young wife of James Young of this city after a lingering illness of 6 months. Her friends and acquaintances are requested to attend her funeral from her late residence, Capitol Hill, at 5 o'clock p.m. on Friday, 11th instant.
Young, Eliza W.	b. 1812 – d. 8 Apr 1879		R81/303
Wife of John M. Young.
Young, Elizabeth B.	d. 23 Mar 1885	65 yrs.	R96/317
Young. On March 23d, 1885, at 9:15 o'clock, Mrs. Elizabeth Young, beloved wife of William S. Young, aged sixty-five years. She peacefully fell asleep. Funeral from her late residence, 906b South Carolina avenue southeast, on Wednesday afternoon, March 25th, at 3 o'clock p.m. Relatives and friends of the family are invited to attend.
Young, Emma	d. 13 Aug 1878	31 yrs.	R4/202
Young. On the 13th of August, 1878, at 9 1/2 o'clock a.m, Emma Young, aged 31 years. Her funeral will take place at 3 o'clock, Thursday, August 15, 1878, from her late residence, No. 321-13 1/2 street n.w.
Young, Emma J.	d. 7 Mar 1903		R38/219
Young. On Saturday, March 7, 1903 at 6:30 a.m. after a brief illness at her residence, 204 E street northwest, Emma J., beloved wife of Thomas E. Young. Funeral from residence, Tuesday, March 10 at 2:30 p.m. Relatives and friends invited to attend.
Young, Eva May	d. 25 Sep 1881	8 yrs.	R6/220
Young. On Sunday, September 25th, 1881 at 6 o'clock p.m., after a long and painful illness in the 9th year of her age, Eva May, eldest daughter of Sophia and John Young. Oh, Eva, how you gazed on us, And, struggling for your breath, We never knew; our darling child, How terrible was your death. Gone but not forgotten. Funeral will take place from her parents residence, No. 1214 11th street southeast on Wednesday, the 28th, at 3 o'clock p.m. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited.
Young, Ezekiel	d. 29 Jan 1879	54 yrs.	R52/220
Young. At his late residence, No. 345 Maryland avenue southwest on January 29, 1879, Ezekiel Young in the 55th year of his age. Funeral Friday, 31st inst. at 2 p.m. Friends cordially invited to attend. The Evening Star, January 31, 1879 Inadvertently in our death notices yesterday the residence of the late Z. Young whose funeral takes place today was wrongly stated. It should have been No. 935 Maryland avenue.
Young, Florence May	d. 16 Apr 1907	24 yrs.	R123/200
Young. Departed this life on Tuesday, April 16, 1907 at 7 o'clock a.m. at the residence of her parents, 408 M street southwest, Florence May Young.

Florence we will miss thee.
 There fell upon the home a sudden gloom.
 A shadow on those features fair and thin
 And softly from that hushed and darkened room.
 Two angels issued where one went in.
 Funeral Thursday, April 18at 2:30 from the Fifth Baptist Church, 6 1/2 and E streets southwest.

The Evening Star, April 16, 1907, p. 2

Death From Asphyxiation

Young Woman The Victim of Gas Poisoning

Found Dead by Her Father in the Kitchen of the Family Home

Miss Florence May Young, twenty-four years of age, who was employed in the bureau of engraving and printing, was found dead in the kitchen at her home, 468 M street southwest, this morning about 7 o'clock, her death having been caused, it is supposed, by inhaling illuminating gas. Her father, John F. Young, detected the odor of gas when he got up this morning and went to the lower floor, supposing he would find nothing more serious than a leak in the pipe. He was horrified, however, when he entered the kitchen and found the body of his daughter in a sitting position on a rocker near the gas stove. The rubber tube was disconnected and the gas was pouring from it. Mr. Young stopped the flow of gas, opened the doors and windows and called for assistance.

The body was still warm and the father thought there might be a possibility of saving his daughter's life, but Dr. C.C. Winter, who was called to the house, said that life was extinct and there was nothing he could do. A message was then sent to the police of the fourth precinct. The coroner, who was also notified, called at the house later in the day and made an investigation. Miss Young, who had been employed in the bureau for about seven years, was popular among the other employes, and also had a host of friends at the Fifth Baptist Church, where she was a communicant. Many friends from both places called at the house today and expressed their sympathy.

Health Had Not Been Good

Miss Young had been in ill-health for several months and had recently prevailed upon her parents to resign her position. It is stated that she suffered from nervous prostration. Although she had been indisposed for several months she had never said anything to cause her relatives to fear she would attempt her life, and the condition of affairs in the kitchen indicate that she had accidentally inhaled the gas. She was heard when she went to the kitchen this morning, but no one thought anything of it, and it was not until her body had been found that it was mentioned.

The chair upon which the body was found was resting against a table, upon which the small gas stove rested. Upon the stove was a teapot, and the valve connected with that particular burner was open, indicating to the minds of her friends that the young woman had started to make a cup of tea and had fallen asleep. While asleep, her friends believe, she accidentally separated the rubber tube from the stove connection. The coroner, however, gave a certificate of suicide. Her parents and two brothers and two sisters survive her. Her funeral will probably take place Thursday.

Young, George d. 8 Aug 1906 62 yrs. R157/248

The Evening Star, August 8, 1906, p. 2

Death Due to Heat Prostration

One fatality, directly attributable to the intense heat, was recorded today. George Young, sixty-two years of age, who was taken to the Emergency Hospital yesterday afternoon, died shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon. He was at the corner of 10th street and Louisiana avenue yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock when he was prostrated. The ambulance of the Emergency Hospital was called and he was hurried to that institution.

The body is being held at the hospital until friends can be reached. Coroner Nevitt has been notified, and it is likely that he will conduct an investigation this afternoon.

This is said to be the first fatality from the heat in this city this year.

Young, George W. d. 22 Mar 1911 R68/296

Young. On Wednesday, March 22, 1911 at 9 p.m., George W. Young, son of the late William and Jane E. Young. Funeral (private) from the residence of F.P. Weller, 753 8th street southeast at 11 a.m., Friday, March 24.

Name	Birth/Death	Age	Range/Site
Young, Henry C.	d. 6 Jul 1880	48 yrs.	R39/89
Young. On July 6th, 1880 at 9 p.m., Henry C. Young, in the 49th year of his age. Funeral from his late residence, 1083 I street southeast, 4:30 p.m. Thursday, July 8th. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend.
Young, Herbert Hayden	d. 26 Jun 1898	9 mos. 14 days	R86/350
Young. On Wednesday, June 22, 1898 at 6 o'clock a.m., Howard Fairall, aged 9 months and 9 days and on Sunday, June 26, 1898 at 5:20 a.m., Herbert Hayden aged 9 months and 14 days, infant twin sons of Richard A. and Mary M. Young., residence 1333 4 1/2 street southeast. Suffer little children to come unto me.
Young, Howard Fairall	d. 22 Jun 1898	9 mos.	R86/350
Young. On Wednesday, June 22, 1898 at 6 p.m., Howard Fairall, infant twin son of Richard A. and Mary M. Young aged 9 months. Funeral will take place from his parents residence, 1333 4 1/2 street southwest, Thursday, June 23 at 3 p.m. Relatives and friends invited to attend.
Young, James E.	b. 18 Nov 1842 - d. 19 Oct 1892	49 yrs.	R81/302
Young. On Wednesday night, October 19, 1892, James E. Young, aged 49 years. Relatives and friends respectfully invited to attend his funeral from his brother's residence, John M. Young, No. 301, 14th street southwest on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.
Young, Jane	d. 16 Nov 1852		R54/21
Young. On Tuesday evening the 16th instant Jane Lawrence, aged 5 years youngest child of Dr. Noble and Adelaide Young. The funeral will take place this (Thursday) morning at 11 o'clock. The friends of the family are invited to attend.
Young, Jane Elizabeth	d. 20 Apr 1908		R68/297
Young. On Monday, April 20, 1908, at 3:30 a.m., Mrs. Jane E. Young, widow of the late William Young. Funeral Wednesday, April 22, at 3 o'clock p.m., from the residence of her son-in-law, F.P. Weller, 753 8th street southeast. Interment private.
Young, John	d. 18 Jun 1876	8 mos. 7 days	Vault
Young. On Sunday, June 18th, 1876, at 4:07 a.m., John, infant son of Frederick G. and Mary Young, aged 8 months and 7 days. Funeral from 509 5th street southeast, on Tuesday, 20th, at 4:30 p.m.
Young, John C.	d. 27 Dec 1887	44 yrs.	R83/351
Young. On December 27, 1887 at 8 o'clock p.m. after a painful illness of 4 years, John C. Young, aged 44 years, oldest son of the late John Young of Fairfax Co., Va. Not dead only gone before to await and welcome the coming of the loved ones left behind. Funeral from the residence of his father-in-law, Thomas Downey, No. 1321 4 1/2 street southwest, Friday, December 30 at 1 o'clock p.m. Relatives and friends invited.
Young, John F.	d. 10 Jan 1879		R4/209
Young. In this city on Friday morning, January 10th, 1879, Col. John F. Young, of Penn., late of the Volunteer Army. A brave man, a loyal friend and true Christian. May his soul rest in peace. (Penn. Papers please copy).
Young, John G.	d. 2 Jan 1834		R39/9
Dry Good Merchant, north side Pennsylvania ave. between 8 and 9th west (Wash. Dir., 1834).
Young, John M.	b. 1807 - d. 22 May 1873	66 yrs.	R81/304
Young. On the evening of the 22nd May, John M. Young, Sr. in the 66th year of his age. His funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon, the 27th inst. at 3 o'clock from his late residence on the corner of 14th & C st s.w. The friends and acquaintances of the family are respectfully invited to attend. The Evening Star, May 28, 1873 The Funeral of Mr. John M. Young took place yesterday from his late residence, on 14th street southwest, and was largely attended by the numerous friends of the family, among whom were many old residents from all parts of the District, with whom the deceased had been associated for many years in business and social relations. The services were conducted at the house by Revs. Mr. Bittinger and Sunderland. The remains were encased in a handsome mahogany coffin furnished by Mr. Anthony Buchly, undertaker, with silver mountings, and on the lid a silver plate on which was inscribed the name, age, and death of deceased. At the close of the services the remains were followed to Congressional cemetery where they were interred. The following were the pall-bearers: Andrew J. Joyce, James R. Smith, James Holliday, Robert Edelin, Thomas Griffin and David Moore.

Young, John M. b. 4 Mar 1835 - d. 5 Feb 1895 R81/305

Young. On February 5, 1895 at 6:05 a.m., John M. Young. Funeral from his late residence, 304 14th street s.w., Thursday, February 7 at 2 o'clock p.m. Friends and relatives respectfully invited to attend. Interment Congressional cemetery.

The Evening Star, February 13, 1895

John M. Young's Will

The will of the late John M. Young, dated June 29, 1894, was filed today by Messrs. James S. Edwards and Job Barnard, who, with Wm. A. Young, are named as the executors of the deceased. To Wm. A. Young, a brother, a gold watch and chain and the horse "Dandy" are given, together with premises 1522 7th street.

The same brother is given premises 479 and 481 C street for life, with remainder to the children and descendants of Sarah Biggins of Weehawken, N.J., a cousin, as tenants in common. To Margaret L. Gaddis, a sister, premises 1520 7th street and 471 Pennsylvania avenue are given in fee, and to her for life square 232 and the books and household furniture at 301 14th street. To Cecelia F. Young, lot 15, reservation C, and the deceased's interest in lot 18, square 867, also certain funds. To Dr. James T. Young, a cousin, part of lot 12, square 490.

To Sarah Biggins, part of sub lot 40, square 421. To John Merritt, part of sub. lots 39 and 40, same square. To Eliza Day, parts of sub lots 38 and 39, square 421. To Elizabeth E. Martyn part of sub lots 31 and 32 same square. To Parmela Loker, farm in St. Mary's county, Md. To the executors, five acres of land in Pelham, N.Y., are given in trust for Joseph Murdock.

The residue of the estate is given to the executors out of which to pay to the First Presbyterian Church, this city, $5,000; to the Westminster Presbyterian Church, this city, $2,000; to James W. Pumphrey, $5,000; to Kate and Lucy Loker, cousins, $1,000 each, and to Dr. Fred Drew of Baltimore, Md., $2,000.

The balance of the residue of the estate to the children and descendents of Margaret L. Gaddis, and if there be no child at the death of the testator, the same to the children of Sarah Biggins, a cousin, in like manner. If any of devises, bequests or legacies should lapse, they shall constitute part of the residuary estate. The estate is said to amount to $250,000.

Son of John M. and Eliza Young

Young, Mrs. Josephine C. d. 21 Sep 1877 54 yrs. Causten Vault

Young. At Weston, .C., on Friday evening, September 21st, 1877, Josephine C. Young, widow of the late McClintock Young, and daughter of the late James H. Causten, of this city, in the 55th year of her age. Funeral will take place on Monday morning, at 10 o'clock from Trinity Church, Georgetown. Friends of the family are invited to attend.

Young, Lewis H. d. 7 Mar 1862 27 yrs. 2 mos. R86/147

Young. Suddenly on the morning of the 7th inst., Lewis H. Young, aged 27 years 2 months. Friends of the family are invited to attend his funeral tomorrow (Sunday) morning at 10 o'clock from his mother's residence, 532 11th street.

Young, Margaret d. 24 Jul 1893 R91/205

Young. On the afternoon of July 24, 1893 at 4:15 o'clock, Margaret, fourth daughter of the late John A. and Rebecca Young. Funeral will take place from her late residence, 313 13th street southwest on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Friends are cordially invited to attend.

Young, Mary A. d. 17 May 1897 92 yrs. R37/35

Young. On Monday, May 17, 1897 at her residence, 1834 15th street northwest entered into life eternal, Mary C. Young, widow of Thomas Young, aged 92 years. Funeral service at the house at 4 p.m., Wednesday May 19. Relatives and friends invited. Interment private.

Young, Mary S.	d. 21 Jun 1979		R64/291
-----------------------	----------------	--	----------------

Young, Mary S. On Thursday, June 21, 1979, of Washington, DC, beloved mother of James E. Young; grandmother of Michael J. Young and Diane L. Snoots; great-grandmother of four. Friends will be received at Pumphrey's Bethesda-Chevy Chase Funeral Home, 7557 Wisconsin ave., Bethesda, Md., Sunday, 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m. Mass of Christian Burial will be offered at Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church, 4835 MacArthur blvd. n.w., Monday, June 25 at 10 a.m. Interment Congressional Cemetery.

Young, Matilda	d. 1 Feb 1871		R74/206
-----------------------	---------------	--	----------------

Young. The funeral of Matilda Young will take place at 3 o'clock tomorrow, February 2 from her residence, 316 C street. The friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend.

Young, McClintock	b. 1801 - d. 2 May 1863	62 yrs.	R83/74
--------------------------	-------------------------	---------	---------------

The Evening Star, May 5, 1863

Dead. Mr. McClintock Young, an old citizen and many years chief clerk of the Treasury Department died in this city on the 2d inst. in the 62d year of his age. He was connected with the Dept. in Gen. Jackson's time and at the exciting period of the removal of the deposits and on several occasions acted as Secretary.

The Evening Star, May 5, 1863

On the 3d inst., McClintock Young of this city, aged 62 years, leaving a wife and 6 children to whom he was devoted. He was for many years chief clerk (and often acted as secretary) of the Treasury in times past, when the pet bank and removal of the deposits from the Bank of the United States were the subjects of imposing interest to the whole country, the duties of which he performed with exemplary ability. His sterling integrity and amiability of character secured to him many friends, and few men were better known or more respected.

Son-in-law of James H. and Eliza Causten. Born at Baltimore.

Young, Maj. Moses	b. 1752 – d. 14 Oct 1822	69 yrs.	R33/63
--------------------------	--------------------------	---------	---------------

The National Intelligencer, October 14, 1822

In this city, suddenly (though for a long time his health had been precarious) Moses Young, Esq. within a few weeks of being seventy years of age, a truly respectable citizen, and at the time of his death attached to the Department of State. He was born in Ireland, but came at an early age to this country, in the year 1771. He was a soldier in our Revolution, when it was patriotism to take up arms; and the Character in which he fought no man has more invariably maintained--that of an American Whig. After being made prisoner at the battle of Long Island, he went out as Secretary of Legation to President Laurens, and was captured with him. In a later period of his life he was Consul General of the United States in Spain, and, if we mistake not, acted for some time as Charge des Affaires of the United States in that country. On his return to the United States, he settled, fourteen years ago, in this city, where he has enjoyed the general esteem as an upright and most benevolent man.

Young, Dr. Noble	b. 26 Jun 1808 - d. 11 Apr 1883	74 yrs.	R54/24
-------------------------	---------------------------------	---------	---------------

Young. At Sackett's Harbor, New York, April 11, 1883 at the residence of his son-in-law, Major H.C. Egbert, USA. Dr. Noble Young, late of Washington, DC. Funeral from Trinity Church on Saturday at 12 m.

The Evening Star, April 12, 1883

Death of Dr. Noble Young

Dr. Noble Young, one of the oldest physicians of this District, died last night at the residence of his son-in-law, Major H.A. Egbert, at Sackett's Harbor, N.Y., aged about 80 years. Dr. Young was probably the oldest practitioner in the District. He was a native of Baltimore, and removed to this city when a mere boy, and graduated in medicine about the year 1825. He established a large practice, and, besides, was for years a member of the board of health, physician to the old penitentiary and the almshouse, and for the past fourteen years to the jail. He reared a family of five children--one, a son, now living in California. He was one of the old-time gentlemen, genial and generous to a fault, of sterling integrity, and his death will be mourned by every one who knew him. It is not known exactly when his body will reach here, but his funeral will take place from Trinity Chrch at noon on Saturday.

The Evening Star, April 14, 1883

The Late Dr. Noble Young

Obsequies Today--Action of the Medical Society

The funeral of the late Dr. Noble Young, so long and favorably known to our citizens, who died at the residence of his son-in-law, Major Egbert, on Wednesday night (April 11), took place today from Trinity (P.E.) church, at noon. The remains were encased in a cloth-covered casket, with silver-plate bearing only the name, and on it rested a magnificent wreath and other tributes. In the audience were many of the older citizens of the District and many physicians, and officers and employees of the jail, of which the deceased had been the physician for many years. The funeral was in perfect keeping with the character of the deceased, being devoid of all ostentatious display. At the church the services of the Episcopal church was read by Rev. T.G. Addison, and the corpse was borne to the hearse by six young men, preceded by the honorary pall-bearers--Chief Justice Cartter, Gen. John S. Crocker, and Drs. Johnson Eliot, D.R. Hagner, J.E. Morgan, Grafton Tyler, S.C. Busey and Flordoardo Howard. Followed by a long line of sorrowing relatives and friends they were taken to the Congressional cemetery, where the interment was made.

At a special meeting of the Medical society last evening, Dr. A.F.A. King presiding, and Dr. Carroll Morgan acting as secretary, a committee of five, consisting of Drs. Johnson Eliot, J.E. Morgan, D.R. Hagner, Harvey Lindsley, and J.M. Toner, was appointed by the president to prepare appropriate resolutions respecting the death of Dr. Noble Young. The committee reported suitable resolutiosn which were adopted. Eulogistic remarks were made by Drs. Johnson ELiot, J.E. Morgan, S.C. Busey, Harvey Lindsley, Kleinschmidt, Carroll Morgan, T.C. Smith, P.J. Murphy and J.M. Toner.

The Evening Star, April 13, 1883

The Late Surgeon General Barnes and Dr. Noble Young

.....

Resolved, that the board has but this moment heard with deep regret of the decease of another of its valuable members, Dr. Noble Young. Dr. Young was a sterling friend to the institution, and by his wise counsel and zeal did much to promote its efficiency.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution, duly attested, be sent to his family, with assurance of our warmest sympathy.

A true copy--Test: William Paret
President Board of Directors

Chas. H. Cragin, Secretary.

The Evening Star, April 6, 1875

Locals

Dr. Noble Young has been laid up for some days with a violent attack of erysipelas in the head but his attending physicians today pronounce him better, his numerous friends will be glad to hear.

The Evening Star, April 5, 1875

Locals

Dr. Noble Young is quite ill with a nervous affection at his residence on Pennsylvania ave. between 3d and 4 1/2 streets.

History of the Medical Society 1811-1909

Born June 26, 1808, Baltimore, Md., M.D., 1828, Columbian. Incorporator of the Society under second charter, President Med. Assn., D.C., 1868-70. A.M., 1876, Georgetown. Died April 11, 1883, at Sacketts Harbor, N.Y. Of Scotch-Irish descent. Educated at Washington Seminary. After graduation in medicine, practiced in Washington; member of Amer. Med. Association, ex-Vice President; Prof. Principles and Practice of Medicine for 25 years, Georgetown Med. School; one of the four who organized the school. For many years was physician to U.S. Penitentiary, Washington. Married, May 6, 1836. Delivered the address at the laying of the corner stone of College Physicians and Surgeons, Wilmington, N.C., 1871. See Minutes of Med. Society, April 13, 1883; Jour. A.M.A., 1883, I, p. 520; Atkinson's Phys. and Surg., 1878, p. 537; Busey's Reminiscences, p. 162; Georgetown Univ., II, p. 73.

Young, Norris George

d. 13 Oct 1904

R152/246

Young. Fell asleep in Jesus on Thursday, October 13, 1904, Morris George Young, darling baby of Nora Edelin Young and grandson of Mrs. Martha Edelin.

Our darling boy is safely housed with Jesus.

Funeral Saturday, October 15 at 11 a.m., from 814 4 1/2 street southwest. Relatives and friends invited.

Young, Rebecca

d. 26 Feb 1924

86 yrs.

R13/107

Young. Suddenly, on Tuesday, February 26, 1924, at her grandson's residence, E.H. Magruder, Alexandria, Va., Mrs. Rebecca A. Young, aged 86 years. Funeral from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. William S. Jones, 61 New York avenue northeast, on Thursday, February 28, at 2 p.m. Relatives and friends invited. Interment at Congressional cemetery.

Young, Richard A.	d. 29 Sep 1907	51 yrs.	R119/198
--------------------------	----------------	---------	-----------------

Young. On Thursday, August 29, 1907, at 9:30 p.m., after long and patient suffering, Richard A. Young, beloved husband of Mary M. Young (nee Fairall), aged 51 years.

Had He asked us, well we know
 We should have said, Oh, spare the blow;
 Yet, with streaming tears should say,
 Lord, we love him, let him stay.

In love he lived, in peace he died;
 His life was asked, but God denied.

The trial is hard, the pain severe,
 To part with one we loved so dear,
 But in our hearts he shall remain
 Until we meet in heaven again.

Rest, gentle spirit, rest.

Funeral from his late residence, 1327 4 1/2 street southwest, on Tuesday, September 3, at 3 p.m., thence to Fifth Baptist Church, 6th and E streets southwest. Friends and relatives are respectfully invited to attend.

Young, Richard M.	b. 20 Feb 1798 – d. 28 Nov 1861		R74/206
--------------------------	---------------------------------	--	----------------

See the on-line "Biographical Directory of the U.S. Congress"

Young. In this city, yesterday evening at half past 7 o'clock, Hon. Richard M. young, formerly of Illinois but for many years a resident of this city. His friends and those of the family are requested to attend his funeral tomorrow at 2 o'clock from the residence of his brother, Col. Colby Young, No. 5, Maine ave., Island.

Young, Robert E.	b. 18 Feb 1843 - d. 2 Mar 1887	38 yrs.	R82/308
-------------------------	--------------------------------	---------	----------------

Young. On the evening of March 2, 1887, Robert W. Young, son of the late John M. Young, sr., aged 38 years. Relatives and friends of the family are most respectfully invited to attend his funeral from his late residence, No. 939 N street northwest, Sunday March 4, 1887 at 5 o'clock.

The Evening Star, March 3, 1887
Death of a War Department Clerk

Mr. Robert E. Young, a clerk in the surgeon general's office died after a short illness at 6:30 o'clock last evening, aged 46 years. He was the youngest son of the late John M. Young and was a member of the different branches of Odd Fellows. He leaves a wife who is the sister of Hon. A. Worth Spates.

Husband of Cecelia Young.

Young, Robert F.	b. 1843 – d. 2 Mar 1887		R82/308
-------------------------	-------------------------	--	----------------

Son of John M. and Eliza W. Young. Husband of Cecilia F. Young.

Young, Ruby	d. 26 May 1906	10 yrs. 3 mos. 22 days	R147/179
--------------------	----------------	------------------------	-----------------

Young. At 502 G street southwest, on Saturday, May 26, 1906, at 12:40 p.m., Ruby F. Young, beloved daughter of Fayette and Samuel E. Young, aged 10 years 3 months and 22 days.

Our darling Ruby is sleeping, so free from all pain,
 Wake her not, Sweet Spirit, to suffer again.
 She slumbers so soundly, oh let her sleep on,
 Her sickness is all ended and suffering all gone.

Oh, think how she suffered, and moaned with pain,
 Through the nights we soothed her in vain,
 Until God in His mercy sent down from above
 An angel that whispered a message of love.

By Her Loving Father and Mother

Funeral private today.

Young, Samuel	d. 17 Apr 1844	1 yr. 8 mo. 17 days	R37/31
----------------------	----------------	---------------------	---------------

Young. On Wednesday morning the 17th inst., Samuel, infant son of Thomas and Mary C. Young, aged 1 years 8 months and 17 days.

Name	Birth/Death	Age	Range/Site
Young, Samuel L.	d. 23 Sep 1903	10 mos. 7 days	R118/177
Young. At the residence of his parents, 1327 4 1/2 street southwest, at 3:30 a.m., September 23, 1903 after a long-suffering, Samuel Lester, infant son of Richard A. and Mary M. Young (nee Fatrell) aged 10 months and 7 days. Funeral private, Friday, September 25.
Young, Mrs. Sarah A.	d. 30 Aug 1864	50 yrs.	R73/182
Young. On the 30th instant, Mrs. Sarah A., wife of John Young, in the 51st year of her age. Her funeral will take place on Thursday, the 1st, at 2 o'clock p.m., from the residence of her son-in-law, R.H. Graham, Maryland avenue and 7th street, Island.
Young, Sarah C.	d. 7 Jun 1914		R37/36
Young. On Sunday, June 7, 1914 in New York city, Sarah C. Young, daughter of the late Thomas and Mary C. Young. Funeral from St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, 14th and Corcoran streets northwest, Tuesday, June 9, at 2 p.m. Relatives and friends invited. Interment private.
Young, Sarah Eliza	d. 10 Jun 1865		R38/214
Young. On the 10th inst., Sarah Eliza, only child of Thomas E and Emma J. Young. The relatives and friends of the family are invited to attend the funeral tomorrow (Sunday) afternoon at 4 o'clock from the residence of her grandmother, Sarah Otterback on 8th st. east near the Navy Yard.
Young, Sophia M.	b. 15 Dec 1851 - d. 12 Sep 1897	45 yrs.	R6/219
Young. Departed this life, on September 12, 1897, at 6:15 p.m., Sophia R.M. Young, the beloved wife of John Young, born December 15, 1851. Gone, and, oh, thy place is vacant At the board and by the hearth; Gone, and, oh, we sorely miss thee In our hours of grief and mirth. Gone from all the care and labor; Gone from all the pain and woe; Gone from every change and trial That earth-weary pilgrims know. Gone to walk the streets of glory With a step from languor free; Gone to dwell in that bright mansion Jesus hath prepared for thee. Gone to that clime; no tempests lower; No dread of any parting hour To fill the soul with fear. Composed by Daughter and Niece Funereal services on Tuesday, September 14, at 3 p.m., at her late residence, 1213 11th street southeast.
Young, Thomas	d. 9 Jan 1831		R26/7
Ship carpenter, s.w. corner M south and 11 east, Navy Yard (Wash. Dir., 1830).
Young, Thomas	d. 25 Feb 1879	68 yrs.	R37/34
Young. On Tuesday, the 25th February 1879, Thomas Young in the 69th year of his age. Funeral from his late residence, No. 1730 Massachusetts avenue Thursday afternoon the 27th inst. at 3 o'clock.
Young, Thomas E.	d. 6 Oct 1903		R32/237
Young. On Tuesday, October 6, 1903 after a lingering illness, Thomas E. Young at 12:05 a.m. at his residence, 204 E street northwest. Funeral from his late residence, Friday, October 9 at 3 p.m. Relatives and friends respectfully invited to attend.
Young, William	d. 12 Feb 1888	75 yrs.	R68/298
Young. On February 12, 1888 at 5:10 p.m., William Young after a short illness of congestion of the lungs aged 75 years. Funeral from his late residence, 751 8th street southeast on Wednesday, February 15 at 2:30 p.m. Friends and acquaintances are invited to attend. The Evening Star, February 13, 1888 Death of an Old Citizen

Name	Birth/Death	Age	Range/Site
	Mr. Wm. Young, for over half a century an employee and for over twenty-five years the foreman of the galley shop at the Washington Navy Yard, died at his residence, on 8th street, between E and G streets southeast yesterday afternoon, after an illness of a week, from pneumonia. Mr. Young was a native of Maryland, born in 1816, and by trade a boilermaker, but coming here about the time he reached his majority he entered the galley shop at the Navy Yard, in which he continued up to the day of his death, a service of fifty-two years. During the war he invented a ship's galley, which proved to be a great improvement over the old style, and was adopted for the use of the Navy. It is also in use on many merchant vessels. Mr. Young resided at the corner of Georgia avenue and 13th streets southeast for a long time, but a few years ago bought the property in which he died. He was a prominent Odd Fellow, holding his membership in Harmony Lodge and Magenenu Encampment. He was a quiet, unostentatious citizen, universally respected, and his family, a widow and five children, have the sympathy of a large circle of friends.
Young, William A.	b. 1840 – d. 19 Dec 1901	62 yrs.	R81/308
	Young. On Thursday, December 19, 1901 at 11:45 p.m., William A. Young in his 62nd year. Funeral Sunday at 1:30 p.m. from his late residence, Arlington, Va. Friends and relatives will please meet at J. William Lee's 11:30 a.m.
Young, William H.	d. 24 Jan 1849		R53/51
	One of 19 landowners who signed the March 31, 1791 agreement to convey land for the federal city. (?)
Young, William Beverly Drinkard	d. 4 May 1879		Public Vault ®
	Young. On Sunday evening, May 4th, 1879, at the residence of his father, 1336 New York Avenue, William Beverly Drinkard, infant son of Dr. James T. and Helen M. Young. Funeral services at 11 a.m. at the house.
Young, William J.	d. 27 Jan 1914	43 yrs.	R48/301
	The Evening Star, January 28, 1914, p. 5 Funeral of W.J. Young Tomorrow Funeral services for William Joseph Young, who yesterday afternoon committed suicide at his home, 1225 K street southeast, by shooting himself in the head, will be held at his late home tomorrow afternoon. Interment will be in Congressional cemetery. The deceased was forty-three years old, and was employed in the navy yard. It is stated that he recently had been ill. He leaves a wife and two children.
Young, William John E.	d. 10 Apr 1884	42 yrs.	R68/296
	Young. Thursday, April 10th, 1884 at 5 a.m., William E. Young, in the 43d year of his age. Funeral will take place from his parents residence, No. 751 8th street southeast, on Saturday, April 12th, at 3 p.m. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend.
Young, Capt. William L.	d. 12 Dec 1857		R52/79
	Young. At his residence at Ellaville, near Washington, on the 12th instant, Brevet Captain William L. Young, U.S. Marine Corps. His friends and the officers of the Marine Corps are respectfully invited to attend his funeral from Christ Church near the Navy Yard at 2 o'clock this (Monday) afternoon.
Young, William W.	d. 31 Mar 1885		R8/232
	Young. On March 31, 1885 of pneumonia, William W. Young. Funeral from his late residence 611 C street s.w., Thursday, April 2 at 2 o'clock. Friends invited to attend.

Youngs, Mary J.	d. 11 Mar 1882	40 yrs.	R2/241
------------------------	----------------	---------	---------------

The Evening Star, March 13, 1882

Mrs. Theophilus Youngs Dead

The Curious Law Suit in Which She Was Involved

Mrs. Theophilus Youngs, whose litigation in New York with the brother of her husband had brought her prominently before the public, died suddenly on Saturday evening, at her home, near Oxen run in the county. Mrs. Youngs was the granddaughter of the late Rev. Dr. Laurie, who many years ago was the pastor of the F street Presbyterian church, now Willard hall. She was at the time of her death about forty years of age. During the war the deceased was married to Theophilus Youngs, and lived with him a few years, having several children. Youngs then left the city, and Mrs. Youngs followed him to Baltimore, but he would not return here with her. In 1876 a man was drowned in Boston harbor, and it was claimed that this was Theophilus Youngs, upon which the property went into the hands of a brother of Theophilus as administrator. After a time Youngs (or a man claiming to be Youngs) returned, but Mrs. Youngs did not (or would not) recognize him as her husband. A law suit in New York followed, and is now pending. It is probable that the death of Mrs. Youngs will end the litigation. Dr. Patterson yesterday viewed the body of Mrs. Youngs, and decided that death was caused by heart disease.

The Evening Star, March 17, 1882

Theophilus Youngs

One of the New York counsel in the Theophilus Youngs' case is reported by the New York Herald to have said Thursday: "Mrs. Youngs' death has put an end to the case, at least for the present. It can be revived, however, by the appointment of a new administrator and of a guardian for her children, who are all minors. Mrs. Youngs died on Saturday last, at the cottage of her son-in-law, Richard Goddard, at Ox Run, four miles from Washington, I regret to say in a state of complete destitution. On hearing of the death the alleged Theophilus Youngs at once proceed to Washington and defrayed the cost of the funeral. He was recognized and acknowledged by the friends and relatives of the woman whose husband he claims to have been. Goddard, who swore at the trial ehre, that he was an impostor, now professes to fully recognize him as Theophilus Youngs." The latest action in the case was a decision a few days ago by Surrogate Hollins, directing that Theophilus Youngs should give an account of himself from 1875 to 1880, which he had refused to do when the case was before Surrogate Calvin.

Mrs. James C. Laurie, wife of the brother of the late Mrs. Theophilus Youngs, stated to a Star reporter today that the above statement is incorrect; that the alleged Theophilus Youngs did not pay any of the funeral expenses except $6 for the hearse. Mrs. Laurie produced a bill of the undertaker for the coffin, and one of the Congressional cemetery for the grave, etc., made out against her husband, (who is an employee of the Treasury printing bureau), to substantiate her statements. Mrs. Laurie also states that Mr. Goddard, son-in-law of the deceased, did not acknowledge the man present at the funeral as Theophilus Youngs.

The Evening Star, March 21, 1882

The Death of Mrs. Theophilus Youngs

Owing, as it appears, to a mistake made by some papers in reporting the name of Mrs. Mary I. Youngs, the wife of Theophilus Youngs, whose death on the 11th inst. was announced in the papers at the time, the question has been raised as to whether it was Mrs. Youngs. The testimony of the death certificate in the health office, and of relatives, who were present at the funeral, however, is to the effect that it was Mrs. Youngs who died. The funeral expenses, moreover, were paid by the alleged Theophilus, who is reported to be in the city at the present time.

The Evening Star, March 22, 1882

The Theophilus Youngs' Case Again

Mrs. James Laurie, wife of the brother of Mrs. Theophilus Youngs, recently deceased, says that her husband paid all the expenses of the funeral, except $6 for the hearse, which was paid by the alleged Theophilus. In support of her statement Mrs. Laurie exhibited to a Star reporter a card from the undertaker. Mr. John M. Mitchell, which said: "The alleged Mr. Youngs' statement is not correct. He has not paid the funeral expenses, except six dollars for a hearse. Mrs. Laurie's statement is correct." The members of Mrs. Youngs' family still decline to identify the "alleged" Mr. Youngs. Mrs. Youngs leaves five children, in whose interest, it is stated, the legal fight will be continued. Two of these children were by her first husband. If the "alleged" Theophilus should establish his identity, according to the terms by which his estate is held, his brother would enjoy the benefits of it.

Name	Birth/Death	Age	Range/Site
------	-------------	-----	------------

Yulee, Jesse William

d. 16 Jun 1851

R45/130

Yulee. On Monday, 16th instant, Jesse William, infant son of Elias and Rachel Yulee, aged 9 months. The friends of the family are invited to attend the funeral which will take place today at 5 o'clock p.m. from Mrs. Rice's boarding house, on Capitol Hill.